

Hello and welcome!

As the 2008-2009 President of the Mississippi Dental Hygienists' Association, I would like to challenge each of you to make an effort to become involved in your professional organization. If you are like me, and live in an area that is rural and does not have a component, you miss the opportunity to associate and socialize with your peers.

Your profession comes alive and ceases being just a job, when you are able to communicate and assist in the decisions concerning the future of dental hygiene in our state. As last years President Elect, I had the opportunity of meeting hygienists from all over the United States and in Mississippi and have come to appreciate the hard work and planning that goes into a successful organization. ADHA/MDHA is the only organization that protects and works to maintain and expand our profession. It is our duty and obligation as health care professionals to ensure that we care for and defend our vocations. We can only accomplish this through large association numbers. Please recall the passion for your profession and join MDHA today!
